Young Exceptional Children’s Editorial Board is comprised of DEC Members committed to promoting policies and advancing evidence-based practices to support the optimal development of young children with special needs.

The primary role of the YEC Editorial Board is to assist in reviewing manuscripts submitted to YEC. In addition, members of the board will provide input on a variety of topics, issues, and initiatives. Finally, board members will assist YEC by helping promote the journal to the public.

Membership on the Editorial Board is a five-year commitment starting on January 1, 2012 through December 31, 2016. Each board member is expected to review a minimum of 3 manuscripts per year. All board members must maintain their DEC membership. An annual meeting of the Editorial Board will be held at the national DEC conferences to discuss issues, share information and resources, and gather input.
